Advanced Technology Video (ATV) announces IP Video Solutions Integration with Multiple VMS's

Coppell, TX – May 12, 2014 - Advanced Technology Video (ATV) a leading provider of innovative video security solutions, announces the integration with industry giants Milestone, OnSSI, Video Insight and Salient Systems. The integration with ATV's IP Video Solutions product line supports a wide range of capabilities.

The latest integration with Milestone's XProtect Corporate and XProtect Expert allows for custom security solutions due to its true open-platform. With over 100,000 installations, XProtect is an easy to manage platform that offers the widest choice in support. The Driver Pack v7.3 is now available for download.

The release of Milestones v7.3 driver pack also allows for integration with Ocularis 4.0 by OnSSI. Their five featured sets include Ocularis PS, Ocularis IS, Ocularis CS, Ocularis LS and Ocularis ES. OnSSI's powerful and user-friendly platform allows you to combine different camera license types under the same system. The Driver Pack is now available for all OnSSI systems.

ATV's additional integration with Salient Systems CompleteView 4.3 and Video Insight's V6 allows end-users more flexibility. Both video management systems were recently awarded 2014 Govies Government Security Award for their outstanding government security products. Salient Systems One, Pro and Enterprise support ATV's IP cameras at a certified level 1. CompleteView v4.3 is currently available for download. Video Insight has over 25,000 clients utilizing the easy to use web client with more cameras per single server than its competitors. Their 60-day trial is available for download.

"The wide selection of video management systems integrated with our IP Video Solutions fits perfectly with our long term goal of providing the best products available with the freedom to choose the best fit solution. Many of our clients are thrilled to know that end-users have the flexibility to use ATV products along with industry leaders in Video Management Systems", says Bob DeProspero, Director of Business Development.
